

Industry, Students Interaction Held

Express News Service

Mysore: The Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) and Sri Dharmasthala Manjunatheshwara Institute for Management Development (SDM-IMD) has organised Convergence 3i, an industry and management students interaction, to create an interface between industry and job aspirants in sharing each others perspective about the selection criteria and prepar-

'It is absolutely necessary for students to have parallel skills in arts and in other fields'

ing oneself to become job ready.

Krish Ganesan, vice-president, Global Talent Acquisition at TCS, spoke about the overall development of personality and the campus commune initiatives at the TCS.

Krish Ganesan said it is absolutely necessary for students to have parallel skills in arts and other hobbies.

Arun Nayar, director at Safran Engg Ltd, spoke about the basic principles of recruitment and the work-life balance.

The organisers also held a panel discussion on 'students' capabilities and their expectations.

The emerging points from the discussions focused on the importance of practical knowledge, application of theories and concepts studied and need to work on overall personality development.

CII chairman R C Jagadeesh also spoke. As many as 300 students from various engineering and degree colleges participated in the event.